

CONVENTION 2010

The FFS convention plans are all set for 2008 (Indianapolis) and 2009 (Atlanta). The convention site selection committee is now interested in receiving inquiries from those who might be interested in hosting the 2010 FFS Convention.

As you might imagine, it is quite an undertaking and something that will require a very active committee of five or more people to put this together. If you think you have the time, and commitment to host such an effort, contact Jack Morrison (contact information below). The committee will send out a packet of information including an 11 page Convention Planning Guide and application form. Once you review this and feel you can host a convention then fill out a "Convention Application Request" and return it to the site committee. All applications must be received by June 15th, 2008 in order to be considered. The convention site selection committee is made up of Jack Morrison (chairman), Mel Meyers, and Bruce Camlin. They will review applications and forward their approval at the August Convention in Indianapolis.

Should you have any questions and need further assistance, please feel free to contact Jack or other members of the Site Committee.

MUSIC MART ALERT

About a year ago, Balboa Books, the company that publishes Ross Barbour's book Now You Know went out of business. The Music Mart bought out the last 100 copies and as of March 1st we are down to our last 45 copies. They have been removed from our web site. I am reserving these copies for our members. If you want a copy, order now because when they are gone, THEY ARE GONE! However, there will be a limit of one copy per member. One more note, I am saving 10 copies for our convention in Indianapolis.

Thank you,
Bob Lininger

Top Radio Song Of The Year

Nielsen today reported that the top radio song of the year is "Buy U A Drank" by T-Pain featuring Yung Joc.

It received 365,000 spins across all radio stations in 2007.

I can already hear the sighs out there.....
