Our Friend, Lorraine Dellinger

by Sue Trafford

It hurt to delete Lorraine Dellinger's e-mail from my address book somewhere in my computer. I never even sent her e-mails, but I knew I could any time and she would reply quickly. She and I were phone friends who talked of "other" things once she'd finished her Four Freshmen business with Chick. She was a friend.

She and David spent many hours at our kitchen table, always talking about their Four Freshmen business. Once, however, the "boys" were in Greensburg for a benefit concert for Habitat for Humanity and someone (Chick) invited them for dinner. Lorraine left the table and worked diligently with me to prepare a meal. Oh how we giggled as we cooked. Her giggle so often lightened the moment.

Lorraine's caring for all the many members of the Four Freshmen Society was a gift she shared so generously. She created a wonderful family for all of us.

My computer has no loneliness or sadness, but I shall miss her true caring and her wonderful giggle...a friend.

Dave is personally unable to respond to the many FFS members who have sent cards and called.

Their kind comments have been of great help to him.
