GREETINGS FFS MEMBERS & FRESHMEN FANS

I hope you have all enjoyed a pleasant summer and are looking forward to the holiday season which will be upon us before we know it. Time has a way of marching on regardless of what is going on in our busy lives. It seems like such a short time ago we were gathered in Bay City, Michigan for our convention/reunion. Looking forward, we are preparing for a fabulous event to celebrate the 75th anniversary of The Four Freshmen in September of 2023, back where it all began in Ft. Wayne, Indiana.

Be sure to check out all the information in this issue regarding this convention, and mark your calendar now so you can start planning to be there. I guarantee you do not want to miss this one!

As I write this, I find myself going back in time remembering all the wonderful friends Tom and I made through this organization over the last 30 years who are no longer with us. On July 30th we lost one of the best in Mel Meyers. Barb and Mel have been some of the strongest and most devoted fans of The Four Freshmen I have ever known. When they lived in Toledo, Ohio I was able to visit often and was always amazed at the dedicated FF room full of Fresh memorabilia. They had items from group one right through the current group at that time. Mel and Barb had a special relationship with Bob

Bay City to Fort Wayne

by Gil Peterson

Many thanks for the diligence and determination of Jim and Linda Williams, we were able to have an extremely successful FFS convention. Even after two postponements, they were able to keep all the terms and conditions of the original contract with the hotel as they were, without a single change. That is pretty amazing to me. One of the keys to their success was establishing a wonderful working relationship with the hotel Marketing Manager, Stephanie Ahrens, who turned out to be nothing short of an angel for us. Stephanie and all of her staff could not have been more accommodating. The FFS is deeply appreciative to each of you.

The convention got under way Wednesday evening with one of the best jam sessions we have ever had. Dave Blackwell did an outstanding job of organizing and emceeding the event. Thanks, Dave. What would we do without you.

Thanks to a grant from the FFMF, a group of four young men from the Boston area opened the Thursday Freshmen concert singing several Freshmen charts. It was delightful to see young people who love the Freshmen sounds as much as we do. They were terrific. The FFMF also sponsored Josh Evert who sang with the Freshmen and spoke to our group. Very talented!

The Board of Directors elected three new members to the Board. Congratulations to Linda Harrison, Marlene Lobsiger and Mark Schlichting. Welcome aboard. We look forward to your guidance and advice.

We had a very special guest attending the convention. Dina Sheets-Roth, manager of the Freshmen. Dina had not attended a FFS convention since 2007 in Portland. It was great having you with us, Dina. Join us again soon.

The new CD, The Four Freshmen featuring Emmet Cohen, was available in the 113 Club. If you have not purchased one yet, they are available at the Music-Mart and you need to get your copy soon. You'll simply love the it!

The Thursday and Friday night Freshmen concerts were marvelous. Group #27 is a very special group. Their performances were simply superb. They have a very close relationship together and that comes shining through with their instrumental and vocal renderings. If you have not had the privilege of hearing Group #27, if they happen to be anywhere near you, do yourself a favor - go see and hear them. I can guarantee you that you will love this group.

All in all, Bay City was a terrific convention. Thanks to all of you who made it happen.

On to Fort Wayne

If you missed Bay City, you will not want to miss the 2023 Convention to be held in Fort Wayne, IN. The contract has been recently signed and the dates for the convention will be September 21 to 23, 2023. Our Co-Chairs are Dave Blackwell and Marlene Lobsiger. Many of you may remember they Co-Chaired a very successful FFS convention in 2013. The 2023 Convention will be the 75th Anniversary of The Four Freshmen, (1948-2023). Dave and Marlene are planning to make this convention even more amazing than the 2013 Convention. You will want to make every effort possible to attend. All of the information will be in the January issue of the Fresh News. Put these dates on your calendar and don't let anything keep you from being there.

Stay safe and stay healthy.....I will see you in Fort Wayne!

The Fifth Freshmen: Erich Bucholtz, Audio Engineer

If you have attended a Four Freshmen convention sometime in the last 30 years, you have experienced the results of his work - but you may not know his name or even recognize his face. Erich Bucholtz is the magician behind the sound quality at many Four Freshmen performances.

Operating out of Latrobe, Pennsylvania as Bucholtz Productions, Erich has been an independent Audio Engineer (audio technician, sound mixer, sound man) since January, 1976. His clients have ranged from the Dalai Lama to George Carlin to Jefferson Starship and Vince Gill.

Erich's interest in music started early. He wanted to imitate his father, who played acoustic guitar. But when he was about 13 years of age he started getting interested in electronics. One of his neighbors, who had a garage high school band, invited Erich to their rehearsals and he started working with a mixer. The more he was around it the more he got caught up in it.

According to Erich, "Once I got involved in this, I came to a Y in the road: OK, I could be a musician, or I could do the technical end of the music industry. Because I felt that I had a knack for the technical end, I decided to go for it because I was young and could change directions if it didn't work out."

When he started running sound, his parents weren't happy because they didn't think there was a future for him. Later on, he did a show with Waylon Jennings and got tickets for his parents. They came early to see what he could do. The next day his dad said, "You know, son, I had no idea you had to work so hard for that job you do. Now I see why you sleep half the day when you get home."

When Pink Floyd, Erich's favorite band growing up, was scheduled to perform in Pittsburgh, he bought a dozen tickets and hired a limo for his mom and friends. Their seats were in the center of the room, and the sound was phenomenal. (Buford Jones from Tennessee was the mixer for that concert, and Erich got to meet him years later.) According to Erich, this was a milestone in his relationship with his mom. Sadly, Erich lost both of his parents within two weeks of each other in July, 2007.

Erich's relationship with The Four Freshmen began with an introduction by Chick Trafford, who brought in Group #18 (Kevin Stout, Mike Beisner, Greg Stegeman, Bob Ferreira) for a Habitat for Humanity fundraiser. Chick hired Erich who was well known in the Greensburg, Pennsylvania area.

Early on with The Four Freshmen, Erich noticed how crucial Bob Flanigan's perspective was in performing the arrangement the way he heard it. During sound checks Erich wanted to know exactly what he should do to get the sound Flanigan wanted.

One night Erich said to The Four Freshmen, "You guys are going to think I'm crazy — there are only four of you, but I am hearing five." They just laughed, because they knew that when a specific note hits a specific place at a specific time, it can actually double itself or create a phantom sound. It's called a sympathetic vibration. It can happen with any kind of instrument and be an octave higher or lower. When everything is exactly right on, the reward is that perceived extra vocal part that makes it better. The Freshmen don't really know when that happens because the monitors on stage don't have the right balance to let them know. That experience really broadened his mixing abilities.

Erich said, "I have had the opportunity to work with a lot of big bands and orchestras over the years, and I am so fortunate to have worked with these guys. When The Four Freshmen hire a musician, they don't hire just a run-of-the-mill musician — they hire someone who has extremely deep knowledge and talent in the music industry for that type of music."

Erich usually schedules a sound check before performances, but an empty room is not the same as when people are in the room.

According to Erich, "When people arrive, the entire atmosphere changes, and they start absorbing a lot of sound pressure levels and frequencies. So those first couple of minutes of the first song are extremely critical for me. I completely block out everything except the music.

"One thing I use is reverb. Reverb is created when soundwaves reflect off surfaces in a room to reach your ear so closely together that you can't interpret them as individual delays. The new reverb units have a spatial

YOU DON'T WANT TO MISS IT! Back to the Beginning... 75 Years Later

By Pat Kirkpatrick, Gretchen Roth, and Mary Scrogam

We three want to tell all of our Four Freshmen Society members, old and new, how excited we are to once again be a part of the Four Freshmen Society Convention Committee, 2023, just as we were ten years ago. We are anxious to welcome everyone to Fort Wayne, Indiana, our city, where "it all began at the 113 Club." To us, this gives special meaning to the 75th Diamond Anniversary Celebration.

Our Convention Committee for 2023 has many of the same members who planned the Fort Wayne Convention ten years ago in 2013. Some of us, including we three, are classmates from Fort Wayne North Side High School. (Many others, husbands, wives, old friends and new friends, all Freshmen Fans, were involved in planning and making that convention possible.) Our enthusiasm for The Four Freshmen was awakened by another classmate, Neil Lantz. Neil invited us to attend the Indianapolis Convention in 2008. We loved the music and the Society members made us feel so welcome and provided such a good time that we have attended many of the conventions since then.

At a recent get-together, we (Pat, Gretchen and Mary) were brainstorming hoping to find ways to contribute to the 2023 Convention. We even wore our 2013 Convention shirts to the get-together and Ken took our picture. We enjoyed reminiscing and sharing memories of when we first heard The Four Freshmen and their timeless music.

Pat: "I was first aware of The Four Freshmen sound while working on the 2013 Convention. I wanted to join my friends who were so enthusiastic about the project. I have been a devoted fan ever since."

Gretchen: "My husband, Stan, is a musician and a Stan Kenton fan. He introduced me to The Four Freshmen in 1956 at Ball State University. We've loved their music all these years."

Mary: "The Four Freshmen performed at Michigan State University, where I was a student in the fifties. My friend was a big fan and took me as his guest. I was hooked."

Our readers might enjoy remembering where and when they became fans of this special vocal jazz music.

Pat Kirkpatrick, Gretchen Roth, and Mary Scrogam
Committee Members of the Four Freshmen Society 2023 Convention

The Four Freshmen have added three new members since the Fort Wayne convention. We are so happy to welcome Bob and the newer members, Tommy, Ryan and Jake to our city. We are sure they will find local people, as well as Society Members, friendly, helpful, and enthusiastic.

Fort Wayne boasts many attractions. The Embassy Theater and the Botanical Gardens were featured as side trips ten years ago and are still highlights of our downtown. Within walking distance are the newly developed Promenade Park along the Saint Mary's River, the Landing with its historic vibe, several restaurants and the (Vera) Bradley Hotel incorporating its distinctive décor as well as its bar and two fine restaurants. A short distance away by car or shuttle is excellent shopping at Jefferson Pointe. This is just a very short list of the attractions Fort Wayne has to offer.

Save the date September 21-23, 2023. We had so much fun hosting The Four Freshmen Convention ten years ago, we can't wait to do it again. See you there!

program built into them. We don't hear it because it's not that apparent except to a trained ear. I want the mix to be big and full."

Erich now uses digital mixing consoles. At the end of the show, he can save the mix: all the levels of the microphones, the tonal controls, the special effects and the equalization of all the sounds up front. He ends up with a footprint that he can use every time he does a Four Freshmen show. He puts a jump drive in his console, and the whole console changes to what he really likes for The Four Freshmen. The guys can come out and perform with no worry about what it sounds like up front.

The convention in Denver was hands-down the best sound Erich claims he has ever had with The Four Freshmen (Group #25: Bob Ferreira, Jon Gaines, Stein Malvey, Tommy Boynton). He says, "I could not have been happier with the sound — the volume was low but it was like the guys were sitting right next to you. It was haunting, it was so good. A fellow came up to me and profusely complimented me on the vocal mix. I found out he was Ralph Dickerson, a trumpet player for Earth, Wind and Fire."

Erich goes on, "We do a lot of big bands. We are currently working with Lords of 52nd Street — Billy Joel's band. When I do a show with them, I put their jump drive in the console and get their unique results."

The Four Freshmen have their multitude of hits, and they have to do those songs the same way. No matter who is playing up there, Bob Flanigan is sitting back to make sure the new guys are worthy of the name.

"Young people need to be introduced to that kind of music and appreciate the content of what these guys are doing. This new group is very innovative and they're trying new techniques to charge it up a bit. Musicianship back 75 years ago was completely different from today. Young people may not even know who The Four Freshmen are. They have every type of musical instrument at their digital disposal."

"I am so fortunate and blessed to be at this point in my life," says Erich. "I have been all over the country, met amazing people and got to experience new things. My dad used to say, 'Son, if you don't like the picture you see, paint a new one.' At this stage I look back and see I have painted a lot of good pictures, and they always involve mixing sound — every genre of sound."

He definitely plans to be a part of the upcoming 75th Anniversary Convention in Fort Wayne. As Erich puts it, "I am really an extension of The Four Freshmen — I am the Fifth Freshmen, whose only job is to refine and present the musicians to the audience with the best possible sound."

The Four Freshmen: Free Public Concert in Milton, WI

By Samara Kalk Derby | Wisconsin State Journal

Jim Shy, of Milton, who brought the six-time Grammy-nominated band The Four Freshmen to his hometown Saturday night for a free concert, was pleased with the event.

"It was beautiful. It went really well," said Shy, who turned 84 on Sunday.

He said about 150 people showed up at the Milton High School auditorium including Milton Mayor Anissa Welch.

"People came up, I didn't even know who they were and they thanked me for putting it on," Shy said.

He was so worried he wouldn't fill the auditorium's 748 seats that he bought a $100 ad in the Wisconsin State Journal on Wednesday.

"Not everybody is interested and won't take the effort to even go to something (that's free), but a lot of people came and talked to me about it," he said Monday morning.

Shy, a retired engineer, discovered the vocal jazz harmony group online two years ago and thought, "Man, those guys are really great."

He said the concert was a gift to Milton, which is 40 miles southeast of Madison.

Shy wouldn't say how much it cost to hire the quartet. "It's not that much," he said last week. "See, I have a lot of money in the stock market and the stock market is so crazy. Sometimes I lose more money in one day than this whole concert cost."

The Four Freshmen were founded in 1948 at Butler University in Indianapolis and toured the world. They take after 1940s- and '50s-era groups such as The Four Aces and The Modernaires.

The last original member retired in 1993, but the group continues to tour internationally. In 1999, the group played at the old Madison Civic Center, where the Overture Center is now, and tickets were $23 and $16.

Shy, who six months ago lost his wife of 57 years, said his three daughters and many of his grandchildren attended the concert.

The mayor introduced the group and stayed for the show. "There's a picture of me and the mayor. I told her we were going to put the picture in the paper and say with a caption 'mayor gets a new boyfriend.'"

Jim Shy with Milton Mayor Anissa Welch, who introduced The Four Freshmen on Saturday night.

The Four Freshmen played Milton Saturday in a gift for the community.

and Mary Flanigan, which allowed Mel to know The Four Freshmen in a personal way. Mel played the drums, and he loved owning several Corvettes over his lifetime, but his love of music, particularly Freshmen music was his passion.

I enjoyed working with Mel as his secretary when he was President of FFS and also Chairman of the Board of Directors. He was a giant Freshmen fan who supported the guys in ways we never heard about - a humble man with a huge heart. I will miss his big bear hugs every time we met. I know your heart is breaking, Barb, but the footprints Mel left will always be there, and they are too big for anyone else to fill. Remember, we'll be together again!
