A FEW WORDS OF CAUTION

Tom Purvis, FFS President

I have been asked to pass along some important information related to concert etiquette.

The Four Freshmen contracts with performance venues include a prohibition of recording, audio and video and in some instances flash photography. Some small venues do not routinely enforce these provisions, but the major venues tend to take these requirements very seriously. The reasons for these prohibitive measures are several and I won't outline them here, but just wish to encourage our members to observe these rules when attending concert performances. Relax and enjoy the performances and forego the videotaping or recording. Also, please consider that flash photography can be distracting to the performers. "nuff said."
